

Apisfero News n. 18 – December 2023

Apisfero supply chain

In collaboration with the CM Ottavi company of Rivoli we have started the professional assembly phase of the Bee Varroa Scanners. In this way we are able to increase production while maintaining the quality of the scanner which from this year can also be purchased and not just used on loan.

FNOSAD Congress

We were invited to the 44th FNOSAD Congress in Perigneux from 13 to 15 October with our stand.

We thank the organization for the warm welcome and participation. Bottom left Rémi Padé, Bee Innovation Manager of Vêto-pharma.

Second time in the European Parliament

Apisfero was invited on November 28th to the tenth edition of the Euro Bee Award, on the tenth anniversary of the establishment of the award, whose ceremony was held in the European Parliament. On the occasion of the ceremony, the winners of past years were invited. In 2019, Apisfero won the award in the "Innovative Technological Solutions" category.

SIMAPI EXPO

Great welcome and interest at SIMAPI, the great French beekeeping material fair for professional beekeeping and beyond. An important opportunity to take stock of the French beekeeping sector and to show an ethical application of artificial intelligence with our BeeVS varroa counter. Bottom right the team with Julien Vallon Responsible Bioagresseurs of ITSAP.

We are celebrating the 6.5 million varroa counted and the 45,000 funds scanned, an European database unique in the world.

See you at the Piacenza fair

Happy Holidays
